Welcome to www.olivier.it

Welcome to my website, and thanks for dropping by. You might wonder, what this website is for and for whom it might be useful (Cui prodest?).

www.olivier.it has always been a sort of container for my various activities. Historically, I started with a website about my music, then, as the years passed by, I added different sub-sites, ranging from a geography quiz to a collection of my best photos. As you can tell by a first glance at the menu, this habit didn't change much. You'll still find a section dedicated to my musical activity (which has unfortunately become scarce lately), one showing my best shots, and a couple of links to some of the blog I'm (supposed to be) maintaining.

The real new "feature" is that now everything is in English. My greatest concern was to make this site accessible to the most (not that I'm really into attracting other people's attention), so this was the obvious choice. You'll also find a sort of biography / curriculum vitae. Since modern HR-people started googling the company's employees names, I thought it might be useful to provide them with some correct information (not that some incorrect may be found but, yes, I'm concerned by my public image on the internet AND in real life).

This website is straight HTML, lots of CSS, a hint of ASP 3.0 (yes, I understand the irony of using MS scripting technology and praising open source software) and some JavaScript (mainly to protect links and e-mail addresses). Your browser will probably ask you to activate something: please do so (there's really no risk). I almost forgot to mention that I recommend using Firefox and a pretty high resolution of 1680x1050 (that will avoid unpleasant scrollbars). Note that, due to its high flexibility, this site should work at 800x600 too.
